Health Was Wrecked, Peruna Gave New Life.

HON. JOHN TIGUE, Assemblyman Tigue's letter about Peruna.

Nothing is more sweet on earth than a smile of approval; and, perhaps, nothing more objectionable than a smile indicating scorn. Those gifted with the power to convey sweet smiles should not be backward in giving them to others if they are honest in giving them out. Children enjoy smiles of approval from others that cannot be mistaken. And well they may, for they comprehend the meaning of a sweet smile as well as what a frown of displeasure means. Vice President Schuyler Colfax carried a smile on his face such as few men ever did, and was as "Smiler Colfax." President Lincoln was a very plain-looking man until he was changed, and had the appearance of one who enjoyed life and who was filled with joy from morning until night. Little boys in repose and Lincoln with a smile on his face were strange opposites. It costs so little to smile on others that I have often wondered that there are not more smiles bestowed on others than there are. A "stupid smile," with no heartiness in it, is not worth receiving, and the best of them is the better. A smile of approbation should mean much in order to carry a benediction with it. The Rev. John Parker has often bestowed smiles on me that made me feel good for hours. He is an old man now, yet I have heard lately that he has not lost the gift of smiling sweetly on proper occasions. How to smile is something that I do not feel competent to write about, as my smiles will not keep within bounds but too soon turn to laughter. A Methodist minister's wife on Long Island has always succeeded in helping to make his pastorates a success by her winning smiles. She is from Quaker stock, and there is something so attractive in the sweet smile of a Quakeress. Speaking one day to an ex-United States Senator concerning the pleasant smile he had given to me on a certain occasion, he replied that he should not be thanked for so doing, as it was only the reflection of one of the best gifts of his mother. How anxious the good mother would be to bestow upon her children smiles of approbation; for if contagious they may be used by her offspring upon a rising generation. As a rule fathers do not know how to give a genuinely sweet smile. They sometimes strive hard to do so, but more often only give a kind of a grin that makes one laugh. But do not get discouraged, fathers, in well doing, for you, no doubt, do the best you can and enjoy making the attempt. Some folk are sweeter than they look, and such persons will improve on acquaintance. They mean more than they can express, and the more numerous that tribe becomes the more happiness will there be in this world. It was a very pleasant remark of an aged lady, about 80, when asked by her pastor, "How do you feel, Mrs. Morrison?" replied, "Very happy. My Saviour smiles on me." She had lived a Christian life that it was not to be wondered at that she saw the smiles of her Saviour as she was about to leave this world. I never yet saw a picture of the Saviour that suited me; for they all represent Christ without a sweet smile on His face. Surely He must have smiled when He asked the little children to come to Him. Smiles when you begin the work of the day and keep it up, for it will have the effect of making your burdens feel lighter. Smile when you arrive at home in the evening, for it will make your family feel as if they were precious to you. What is the good of looking cross? If you own a bulldog, that is the animal that can accommodate the whole household with cross looks. Whoever has looked upon a picture of a cross-looking angel? Such a picture is unknown. To have your face lighted up with a smile does not mean that you are only a foolish giggler. A manly and womanly expression is compatible with the sweetest smile that ever played upon a human face. When a mother smiles on her sick baby have you not often noticed that the afflicted one returns the smile? After which both mother and baby feel better. Smiles sunshine along your path by doing all you can to smile sweetly upon others, especially those who have an ailment upon you. Some mean people only smile when they are pro-

THE SMILE OF APPROVAL.

By George R. Scott, of New York

Nothing is more sweet on earth than a smile of approval; and, perhaps, nothing more objectionable than a smile indicating scorn. LUCKY ACCIDENT

Caused a Big Fish Catch That Netted Farmer a Clean $100.

Lesueur, Miss., Feb. 9.—Chris Hahn, of this county, whose postoffice address is Lesueur, had a great stroke of luck recently, resulting from a serious accident. He was drifting home, and, to shorten the journey, turned from the highway and took a short cut across Peanout lake. Just before he reached the opposite shore, however, the ice broke and the team and sled were precipitated into the water, which fortunately was only about five feet deep where the sled went down and still shallower where the team was. The horses were quiet and did not plunge about, but were unable to climb out over the ice with the sled attached to them. Hahn promptly dove down into the water back of the horses, pulled out the pin that held the harness to the tongue, dove in to the sleigh box and got an ax with which he cut out a strip of the ice in front of the horses, the team then was able to climb out and was driven by Hahn to a neighbor's barn and well blanketed. After Hahn had changed his clothes and had taken a few drinks of hot toddy-made wise at his neighbor's, he borrowed a team, and going back to the lake, cut a path through the ice to the shore, fastened a long chain to the end of the sled and hauled the sled out on land. When he did so a great and happy surprise was vouchsafed him, for the sled, which weighed down as it fortunately had been with a couple of bundles of fence wire, had not floated off the runners, but had remained submerged beneath the water, and, while in that position, had been filled almost completely full of fine pickered pike and black bass that had swarmed in from the deeper portions of the lake to get a breath of fresh air at the opening made when the team broke through. The weight of the load of fish exceeded a ton, and Hahn made a fine profit out of the accident the next day, which was Friday, for he brought the load to town and sold it all in a short time at 6 cents a pound, netting a profit to himself of over $100, after paying Paul E. Black and Herman Wickworth for their services as auctioneer and clerk, respectively.

GED. HUMPHREY'S LETTER.

(The following was received some time ago but was misplaced.) 95th, Company (Torpedo) Coast Artillery, Fort Hancock, New Jersey, Jan. 15th 1906. Editor Green River Republican, Morgantown, Ky.

Dear Editor:—I will endeavor to write a few lines, this evening, to my Buttery friends, through the medium of the Republican.

The holidays are over and we again settle down to work, and take up the duties peculiar to the life of a soldier, which is the usual drill and guard duty.

We are having exceedingly mild winter; it is more like the month of March than January.

The tide is higher this year than has been known for years. It has done a great deal of damage by washing out Railroad bridges etc. At high tide Sandy Hook is completely surrounded by water.

There has been a great many wrecks along the coast this winter, and a number of lives and property lost.

The Life Saving crew from here went out Saturday afternoon to Atlantic City to a wreck and have not returned, there is some doubt as to their safety as they should have returned by this time.

A small sloop ran on to a sandbar here Sunday night, and it was impossible to reach them owing to the wind and waves; we rescued two of our men by trying to reach them and two men were all gaily hurt, the boat and all its crew were lost.

I take great pleasure in reading the Republican. I would not think of getting along without it for it takes me back to old Butler again and among the friends of my childhood.

I will close by wishing the Editor and all who read these few lines a prosperous and happy New Year. I remain, respectfully, George P. Humphrey, Q. M. Sergt. 95th (Torpedo) Co. Coast Artillery, Fort Hancock, New Jersey.

It is reported that Commissioner Getchell has resigned his position. Doubtless the pickers would come up with a handsome campaign contribution if they thought it would make him quit his present job.

NOTICE!

Morgantown is a good point at which to locate if you wish to engage in manufacturing of black barrels, boxes, chairs or anything else in this line, as we have plenty of timber for such purposes, both hard and soft.

COAL. Morgantown is surrounded by Coal Mines from which can be obtained a good quality of (bituminous) Steam and Anthracite coal at prices which astonish all newcomers and defy competition from any source whatsoever.

SCHOOL. We have a good School House containing 12 large rooms, situated centrally. The principal and assistant are College graduates. Four teachers all hold the degree of instruction from the University to Normal or teachers courses. Students can obtain board from $2.00 to $2.50 per week with good families. Pure air and water insures good health. No intoxicants of any kind are sold in Morgantown.

FARMING LANDS. Morgantown is in the center of a good body of land, through which flows the classic waters of Green and Barren rivers. This good land is cheap and needs more good farmers to develop it to that standard of excellence of which it is capable, and thus bring money to their pockets and cause adjacent counties to figuratively hang their heads in shame—Corn, Wheat, Oats, Rye, Peas, Tobacco or any other crop desired, can be produced from this land.

MORGANTOWN. Is situated on a nice level plateau, about 150 feet above the level of Green River and contains about 1000 inhabitants, who are a generous people, warm hearted and cordial.

It is the County seat of Butler County. It has 3 daily mails. It has a good Telephone Exchanges. It has a daily bus going each way. It has the legal tavern. It has good stores in every line of trade. It has water works. It has 6 churches. It has a good shipping point. It has 3 first class hotels. It has a good newspaper and job printing office.

It has an up-to-date photograph gallery. It has a good saw and planing mill. It has a good Flour and Grist Mill. It has 4 good doctors and no bad ones. It has 2 good Banks—Capital Stock $100,000.

3 Barber Shops, 3 Livery Stables, 3 Hatcheries, 4 Blacksmith Shops, 3 Marble Works.

It is a nice point at which to locate a Cannery, Factory, Ice Plant, Laundry or almost any other kind of Manufacturing Plant.

We will be glad to communicate with anyone seeking a location. All letters cheerfully and promptly answered. Address, MORGANTOWN COMMERCIAL CLUB.

J. A. LEHRAND'S LETTER.

Durant, I. T., Feb. 11th, 1906.

Mr. H. B. Morehead.

Dear friend Henry: After so long a time, I will try to pen you a few lines. This leaves us all well hoping to find you and family and all of my old Kentucky friends enjoying the richest blessings of life. We all would be as glad to see all of our old Kentucky friends.

The Republican comes to us each week and is welcomed by us all. We read it with much interest, its personal and neighborhood correspondences are read with much delight. I would be glad if you could have a correspondent from each neighborhood especially from Flatwoods, Brooklyn and Welcome.

Well, Henry we still live in the Territory and are proud of this country but we are looking forward with great anticipation for Statehood. When Oklahoma and the Territory are admitted as a state we will have the grandest state of the west.

Well Henry I have closed out farming. I now live at Durant, have gone in the grocery business, have two partners. We have the largest stock of any house in the city. We also wholesale a lot of goods. We have somewhere between eight and nine thousand dollar stock of goods. We have the best retail business in the city. In the last two weeks we have banked $2,400. and of course you understand that this is the dull season.

Well Tom Harrison, we read your letters with interest. Andy Jenkins come again you Louisville man. I remember you. Well Jimmie D. Bender come again, see you still at Roswell New Mexico? Stop off at Durant sometime and see our town and country. Well W. W. Embury write up Flatwoods happenings for the G. R. K. and we will read it with great delight.

Well Henry I will say for your Boswell correspondent that I am not acquainted with him but he is in a pretty little town. We have a lot of Kentucky people here and I am always glad to meet a Kentuckian. It seems like meeting friends even if it is the first handshake. Wishing all a happy and prosperous year, I remain as ever, Your friend, J. A. LeGrand, Box 507 Durant, I. T.

LAST CALL.

The Republican County Committee of Butler County is hereby called to meet at the Court House in Morgantown, Ky., on Saturday March 3, 1906, for the purpose of electing a chairman of said Committee. J. W. Harrell the present chairman having tendered his resignation to take effect on said date, and to transact any other business that may come before it at that time.

J. W. HARRELL, Chm'n. T. W. SWARTZ, Sec'y.

FRED TAYLOR'S LETTER.

Dade City, Fla., Feb. 11th, 1906.

Mr. H. B. Morehead, Editor of the Green River Republican.

As we have just received your valuable paper, I see in the columns some talk of a railroad. I will say to the Commercial Club, to push the good thing along. I walk up one railroad to get my mail, and walk down another to my work, which is not more than a mile, they both run through Dade City which is not any lawyer than Morgantown.

One is the Atlantic Coast line, the other is the Sea Board Air line, consequently land is high and rent is also high, and a ready market for every thing. Tobacco sells for 49 ct. per pound, Irish Potatoes $1.50 per bushel and other things in proportion.

Good mules sell from $300.00 to $300.00 apiece. What I have seen of Passo Co. is not as good as Butler on the average for farming, it is level and sandy.

Zero weather up there? It is rather hot down here. Put me down one for a railroad through old Butler and lets watch her grow.

Success to the Green River Republican and her readers.

Respt. Wm. A. Taylor.

DEPARTED.

Mrs. Nannie A. Shrum, (nee Fisher) aged 25 years 3 months and 2 days, died at her home near Rochester in this county on the 18th inst. of consumption after a lingering illness lasting about two years.

Mrs. Shrum was the young daughter of our townsman, J. W. Fisher, who with nearly all the members of his family was present at the time of her death. Mrs. Shrum professed religion several years ago at a revival meeting at this place conducted by Rev. Watson.

Mrs. Shrum bore her suffering with remarkable Christian fortitude, and retained consciousness till death, and just before death came she asked why it was growing so dark and asked her friends if the end had come and upon being informed that such was so, she asked to be raised up in bed when she extended her hands and told all good byes. On being asked if she was ready to die she said yes, indeed she was ready, and peacefully fell asleep in Jesus.

We extend heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved family and friends.

RAILROAD NEWS.

False Was the Alarm

Our citizens were wearing long faces Monday when it was reported that the railroad surveying force were making a short cut through the country and were going in by Ebenezer Church and on to Rochester leaving Morgantown to the north some six or eight miles. Much chaffin was felt by our people and great discussions of the reasons why the road had left us out were indulged in. Some laid it to our cause and some to another but the majority were of the opinion that it was on account of our lukewarmness and indifference in not welcoming and encouraging the road to come our way. But after considerable anxiety and investigation it was learned definitely that the report was false and that the surveying party was only making a detour to get around the Mouth of Gasper Hill, but that the survey would certainly come by Morgantown. Mr. J. M. Carson had a conversation over the telephone with the manager of the survey and he told Mr. Carson that our people could be assured that the survey would not leave them out and that they were going to do all they possible could for us and all they asked was that we do all we could for them. This we certainly should and will do.

Mr. C. W. Kelley, who is managing the surveying party, which is making a survey for the proposed rail road from Bowling Green via Morgantown to Central City, was in town Tuesday and reports that the party has reached Sugar Grove.

Mr. Kelley calculates that the party, which consists of 15 or 16 men, will reach Morgantown about Thursday or Friday.

Mr. Kelley has arranged with Mr. J. C. Cole to take care of the party while about town.

The most Feasible Route.

The party surveying the proposed rail road from Bowling Green to Central City, or some other point on the Illinois Central, will get to Morgantown Thursday night. As to how and where the road may touch town is not known. But if the purpose is to go from here to Central City or down the river at all, it seems to us that the most feasible route would be to come in on the west side of town coming down from Little Muddy, and in on the west side of gentian creek and leaving the big road near the fork and bearing round west of W. A. Helm's farm toward the Big Spring. Only one cut will be necessary at town on this route and ample depth facilities can be found between Mrs. McKinney's and the Big Spring. We hardly know however, whether to congestate ourselves on the prospect or not. Those railroad surveying parties are like the good "eggplant." We get us excited and red hot for awhile, and then go off and let us cool. But let us hope there is something to follow that is more tangible and that has more noise and smoke about it. We have waited a long time for our children to see the "Kara." May they get some.

THE REVIVAL.

The series of meetings at the Baptist church conducted by Rev. V. L. Bowling Green, began Monday night. He is assisted by the pastor, Rev. Geo. Baber Harter.

Mr. V. L. is a minister of great earnestness and power and is attracting large congregations and inspiring responsibility.

Prospects are good for a great revival.

STRAY NOTICE

Taken up as a stray by S. L. Taylor, Jr., post office Cromwell, Ky., but a resident of Butler county, living near Borah's Ferry, one pale red heifer, about two years old, not marked, has horns, a small spot in forehead, appraised by A. E. Maxwell at $9.00. This 13th day of February 1906. Actual: C. M. Leo, J. P. E. C.

Pleasant and most Effective T. J. Chambers, Ed. Vindeoster, Lib. 1911, Eggs, writes Dec. 25, 1902: "With pleasure and unqualifiedly by you, I bear testimony to the curative power of Ballard's Horehound Syrup. I have used it in my family and can cheerfully affirm it is the most effective and best remedy for coughs and colds I have ever used."

We are informed that the Beaver Dam Baptist church has called Rev. A. B. Gardner to preach for them two Sundays in each month. Rev. Gardner will preach at that place next Saturday and Sunday at which time he will likely accept the call.

Aunt Sooky

Well, you see I am here again. Not gone anywhar yet, and not likely to go exceptin to heaven, I hope. Well I guess we all hope that. You have mist several letters but then I was a doin' a lot of thinkin' about you all, all the time.

The fact of the business is I have bin feelin' mighty doctery for some time and have almost been on the lift but Joe perscribed weight-bark pills and I am mendin' rite along. I think I will call him Dr. Joe.

But I had a uncommon bad nite last nite. The wind was a blowin' and things was a rattlin' and a slammin' all nite. It jst kept me jumpin' and wakin' up every four minits. Mr. Ed Harrell had been tellin' me about them robbers tryin' to break into his house; I wasn't persiderin' at nite but I jst felt a little uneasy all nite.

And I have jst bin studyin' about what a awful feelin' it is to be afraid. Was you ever alone by yourself and get real afraid? I have bin aksed all my life of it and on (that is when I was a young person). I tell you it is a terrible feelin'. There is somethin' about it that is dispiritin' and sinkin' down. I believe there is somethin' about it that is of that lost world. I believe the greatest punishment of that world of jst soles will be continual, overwhelming fear, wanderin' around in darkness and fear.

Don't you remember when you wuz in great loneliness and fear in the sad stillness of nite what a great comfort it was even to hear the gabblin' of the geese out at the bare? It was company to you to know that not all the world was asleep.

Then how sweet and comfortin' is them words: "Though I pass through the valley of the shadow of death I will fear no evil." The time has bin in your life and mine and may be in agen when we would give the world if it was ours to give jst to hear a voice. A friendly, familiar voice. Don't you know there is comin' a time to us all when we go down into a valley, in a dim, voiceless valley alone, where the comforting voice of mother or father or friends of earth will be mounch. Down into the dark valley of the shadow of death, would not give up the hope of a little voice, that if that voice will hear a voice, more sweet than any we ever heard before sayin' "Be not afraid I am with you." It is Jesus.

But there! my old maw's book has been started off and I couldn't be satisfied till it had played a tale or two. Do you know the "Lamb heart and the red head" and "The Old Swiss Man's hexes that works with a spring. We has a beautiful picture or maybe read a beautiful poem or even an old folks tale or some that touches the spring and a flood of thoughts come over us. They jst will come, and we love for them to come.

Well along this line, I was a readin' a poem the other nite by that wonderful mountain poet, Johann Miller in which he spoke of the "rite of the yellow bird song" and that "yellow bird heart's spring and set it to length of the long ago. And it went down in the old big bottom in the old ash thicket."

There was my old maw's book with bu-buffal wings bearing the rich lines of all glorious things." I have visited World's Fairs that cost millions of dollars, and parks and gardens, the splendid works of man, where could be seen myriads of beautiful caged birds, but they couldn't compare with the sights and songs of the free birds in the old ash thicket.

And so it is with people. The people of the cities are nothing but caged birds. They are caged birds. Give me the simple life and freedom from restraints of style and formality. Give me the quiet humble walks of life where I can commune with my maker and mingle with his free birds.

And then while I had my old box again I come up from the old bottom jst a jumpin' of old memories it be a boy wadin' around in a old age field jumpin' up rabbits. Here I went up through the old pop paw patch where I got a powerful fall, on by the old hole where I used to neat off from work and go a swimmin' and got a powerful whippin', and then on up through the old orchard by the old hoes apple tree, where we used to use the bumble bees and so on. Every old tree and rock and brook had a memory and a story.

And as I said before-but yonder comes the end and I will put my nite till next week.

STOP We wish to announce to the public that we have opened a produce business, and that we are prepared to handle anything from a darning needle to an old saw mill. In fact we propose to buy any surplus the farmer has to dispose of, and pay cash. AT any time you desire to exchange your produce for goods in our line--and you know we carry a long line--we will be glad to do so, and will pay more for produce when exchanged for goods. Will sell you a wagon, buggy, plow or drill and take pay in Eggs, Chickens or anything we can ship and turn into money. Will sell you a stove (cook or heater) and you can pay in chips and whetstones. However, the market is a little dull just now on chips. Sewing machines and furniture of every description, Hardware and Queensware--and we have a dandy lot of queensware, the cheapest priced you ever saw. We will just give it away only asking a few eggs, chickens or turkeys, or some other thing you don't need, in exchange. So many eggs for so many chairs, so many chickens for a nice Dresser or Rocker, Saf Bedstead, or Table. Any old hides, or new ones for the matter, of any kind, color or condition, bought at highest price for cash or exchanged for goods. We handle almost everything found outside a dry goods store, except coffins. We don't want to in your hucial tho' we may be compelled to do so. It will pay you to come and see us because we business, and can save you some money. E. P. JAMES & C
